

AUTHOR GUIDELINES

EUROFM RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM

EuroFM strives for high-quality Open Access research. The annual Research Symposium offers the possibility to submit full papers (10-12 pages) and short papers (5-6 pages). All the papers undergo a double-blind peer review process. Accepted papers will be published Open Access in the conference proceedings and presented at the symposium. The proceedings will be assigned a DOI and an ISBN.

ABSTRACTS

Please limit your abstract to 250 words, using the following format:

Title. Provide an informative title containing the main message or main elements of your research.

Authors. List all authors with their affiliations and contact details, indicating the corresponding author.

Background and aim. Present your research motivation and research aim.

Methods and data. Present your research methods and data purposeful for the aim.

Results. Present your main research findings.

Originality (if applicable). Indicate the scientific novelty of your research.

Practical or societal implications. Identify the potential implications for practice and society.

Keywords. 4-5 key concepts or words.

Type of paper. Please suggest the paper type (research, technical, viewpoint or educational paper). Please note that the final decision on the paper type is with the chairs of the Scientific Committee based on reviewer recommendations.

TYPES OF PAPERS

Research paper. Focuses on scientific advancement of the field. Includes a strong theoretical foundation and empirical evidence.

Technical paper. Focuses on the process and results of the research. Applied research often produced either by or for the industry.

Viewpoint paper. Focuses on key challenges, issues, and recent developments in FM. May provide the authors' viewpoint, however, must be supported with references.

Educational paper. Focuses on the principles and practices in FM education. Encourages novel approaches to teaching and learning.
