25 Years of FM: From Foundations to Frontiers

Are you ready to connect, create, and challenge yourself on an international stage? This is your opportunity to be part of the EuroFM Student Challenge 2027; a unique, cross-cultural experience where students from across Europe and beyond come together to explore how Facility Management has evolved over the past 25 years and where it could be heading next.

This year's challenge is all about looking back and thinking ahead. You'll explore the key developments that shaped FM in Europe and North America, investigate how the profession is developing in fast-growing regions such as Africa and Asia, and turn those insights into your own predictions for the next 25 years of FM.

What's the challenge?

You'll work in international teams to:

- Explore how Facility Management has changed over the past 25 years.
- Investigate how FM is developing in fast-growing regions such as Africa and Asia.
- Develop your own predictions for the next 25 years of FM.
- Bring your findings to Kufstein and turn them into a powerful infographic and five-minute pitch.

This challenge isn't just about research. It's about:

- Real-world networking – connect with students and FM professionals from across Europe and beyond.
- Cross-cultural learning – work with different perspectives, backgrounds, and markets.
- Future thinking – turn lessons from the past into ideas for what comes next.
- Making your mark – contribute your own perspective to the future of Facility Management.

Who should join?

Curious, ambitious bachelor and master students from Facility Management and related fields who want to go beyond the classroom, challenge their thinking, and make international connections that last.
